Dear Gunnar,

I am writing to provide a short report of my involvement on FENS activities on behalf of the SFGN.

1. European Congress of Nutrition 2027 - As member of the Scientific Committee, attended the preparation meetings online. One outcome relevant for Sweden is that there will be a special symposium addressing Indigenous Peoples Nutrition research, for which Sámi researcher Lena-Maria Nilsson is invited to be part of. I attend regularly the online meetings and contribute to the discussion and the preparation of symposia.
2. FENS working group continuation of the Presidential Activity Improving Standards in the Science of Nutrition Task Force on Improving Standards in the Science of Nutrition. The working group I joined is: INTERDISCIPLINARITY AND COMMUNICATION OF NUTRITION SCIENCE, that had four meetings in 2026. At the moment we are now working on at least two directions for two complementary position papers, one addressing misunderstandings across disciplines, including legacies of colonialism and the economic system; and other on communication of nutrition science and the recommendations to the public. There are no outputs yet, but we aim to share our reflections at European Congress of Nutrition in Rotterdam (November 2027).

That is what I can report thus far.

Very kind regards,

Armando
